According to a railroad teletype sent by the Erfurt regional railroad headquarters to its subordinate agencies on 19 April 1951, Leipzig-Plagwitz (H 52/E 11) railroad station will serve as a collection point for reparations shipments to the USSR (Brest-Litovsk and Insterburg) and Poland. All the freight dispatch offices were ordered to report by telephone to the transport office at the Leipzig-Plagwitz railroad station all the pertinent data concerning such reparations shipments. The shipping papers of these shipments are to be marked "B60-Reparations." *

Comment. It is believed that a separate collection point was assigned to each railroad district. This procedure is to facilitate the formation of entire trains and to reduce shunting operations at the Trankfurt/Oder border crossing point. Leipzig-Plagwitz is a modern marshaling yard.
